NEW PACIFIC
WAR COUNCIL IS ANNOUNCED

U. S., Canada, China, Britain, The Netherlands To Be Represented

FIRST MEETING IS SET FOR WEDNESDAY

New Council To Be In Contact With Similar Body In London

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Creation of a new Pacific war council, giving representation to Australia and New Zealand in considerations of war problems, was announced today by the White House. President Roosevelt called the first meeting for Wednesday.

Canada, Great Britain, the Netherlands and China, along with the United States, also will be represented.

In announcing the council, Mr. Roosevelt said in a statement:

"It is imperative that all of the United Nations now actively engaged in the Pacific conflict consider together matters of policy relating to our joint war effort.

"An effective war can only be prosecuted with the complete cooperation and understanding of all the nations concerned. The new council will be in intimate contact with a similar body in London."

Teamwork Is Promised

White House officials were unable to say immediately whether the Washington council would be charged with directing action in the southwest Pacific war theater or whether that would be left to the London council. Presumably, however, there will be complete teamwork between the two.

The President has asked that these persons sit in on the first council meeting:

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian minister for external affairs; Walter Nash, New Zealand minister to the United States; Dr. Alexander Gordon, The Netherlands minister; Hume Wrong, counselor of the Canadian legation; Dr. T. V. Soong, Chinese foreign minister; and Lord Halifax, the British ambassador.

TRUCE STALLS
LABOR BATTLEArgument Shelved Until
After Easter In Cooling-Off Period

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A tacit truce on demands for wartime labor legislation until after Easter today, gave congressional leaders their first breathing spell in many weeks.

With house members assured that no important legislation would be considered for two weeks, senate leaders reportedly agreed that the sizzling labor-profits argument would be shelved for the same period.

Leaders expected this cooling-off period to give public opinion, as expressed in mail and other communications, a chance to crystallize. Senators were said to be planning a series of three day recesses with no legislative action except routing appropriation measures for the next fiscal year.

The senate appropriation committee planned early action on the huge new $18,301,961,345 omnibus war appropriation approved by the house Saturday night.

It also had to act on the annual farm bill and several other supply measures.

Committees Busy

Although no major legislative action was scheduled, committees at both ends of the capitol planned a busy week. The senate labor committee, headed by Sen. James A. Ullrich, and the senate subcommittee on the Civilian Conservation Corps, to testify on the proposal of Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) to abolish it and the National Youth Administration as a wartime economy.

The special senate committee investigating national defense called officials of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey to answer charges by Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold regarding patents for synthetic rubber and gasoline exchanged with German industrial leaders. The oil executives were asked to testify Tuesday.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) served notice that he would make another attempt to get senate action on his anti-strike bill calling for government seizure of plants and freezing of all labor conditions where disputes threaten war production.

Administration leaders in both the senate and house, however, hoped to avoid immediate action on this or the bill from Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the house naval affairs committee dealing with labor and profits under war contracts.

It appeared probable, however, that the senate's hand might be forced by the last-minute amendment which Rep. Case (R-SD) inserted in the $18,301,961,345 war appropriation bill. This provision, approved by a vote of 70 to 2 without debate, called for a limit of six percent on all war profits.

INDIA WEIGHS
BRITISH PLAN
AS JAPS NEAR

Ponders Offer of Dominion Status With War 300 Miles Away

CHINESE GRAPPLE
WITH JAP HORDES

Proposed Dominion Within Empire Would Have Power to Secede

BY CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH

Associated Press War Editor

While a bloody contest surged toward a new decision on the Burma approach to India, within 300 miles of the nearest Indian frontier, India's leaders pondered today Britain's tempered offer of freedom and it apparently had evoked a favorable reaction by some of them.

The British promise was dominion status, including secession rights, after the war, but it hung by immediate and full Indian participation in the war against the new order hammering at India's gates.

On the Burma battle front, Chinese forces barring the Mandalay railway to the Japanese were locked in a hand-to-hand struggle with the foe in which at least half of the casualties were sustained at bayonet point.

Chinese Face Big Struggle

At Toungoo in the upper reaches of the Sittoung river, some 200 miles by rail from Mandalay, the Chinese were struggling against a growing Japanese force to hold the eastern anchor of the Allies' Burma defense line.

Part of Toungoo was abandoned in favor of positions along the railway north to Mandalay.

This railway is one of two lines which fork northward out of Rangoon.

On the western branch, on the way to Prome, British imperial forces supported by mechanized units joined battle with the Japanese at Paukge, about 30 miles south of Prome. Prome is the gateway to the Irrawaddy fields.

The British promise of post war freedom for India envisioned the creation of a new Indian union which would be a dominion within the British empire but would have the power to secede.

Act Against Dominion

As a concession to the powerful Moslem minority of 77,000,000 which fears domination by the 240,000,000 Hindus, the plan would allow separate constitutions for state or provinces which did not accede to the new Indian constitution. This two autonomous India would be created.

Sir Stafford Cripps, British envoy, made it clear that the proposal must be accepted or rejected as a whole.

Putting in words the British feeling that India should in turn rise up against the Japanese in her full force, Sir Stafford reminded the people of the subcontinent they should mobilize fully their manpower and war resources to meet Axis threats.

The left and right wings of the All-India congress party were believed favorable to the plan, although a party leader, Mohandas K. Gandhi, was reported feeling it would keep India intact from attaining its political integrity. The Moslem league also was expected to support it.

GOOD FRIDAY RITES
PLANNED IN LISBON

LISBON, March 30.—A three-hour union devotional service will be held in the United Presbyterian church here on April 3, Good Friday, in which the co-operating churches will take part.

The theme of the service will be "The Seven Words," and will be divided into seven 25-minute periods of worship, beginning at 12 noon.

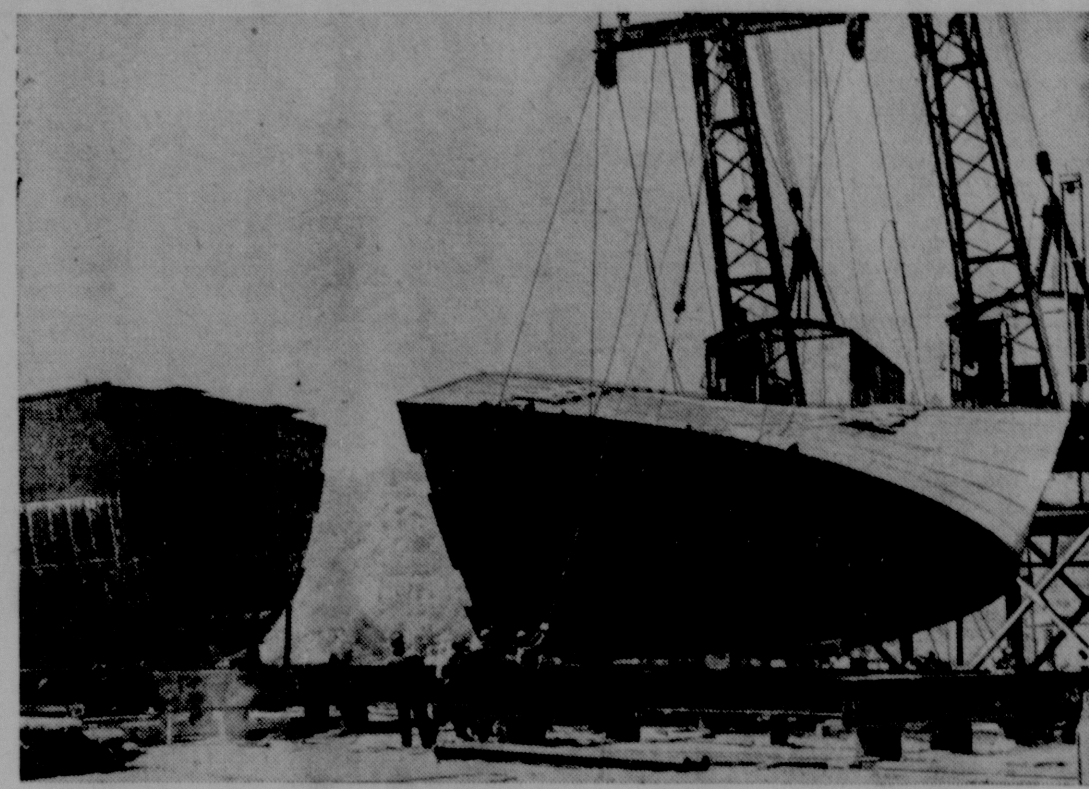

The first worship period will be conducted by Rev. Carl Bornetta, pastor of St. Jacob's Reformed church, when the first word, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do," will be the theme.

The second period, will be conducted by Rev. John M. Cameron, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, on "Today shalt thou be with Me in Paradise."

The third word, "Behold Thy Son, Behold Thy Mother," will be given by Rev. Claude Lee Lane, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, while Theodore Cord will speak on the fourth word, "My God, My God; why hast Thou forsaken me?"

Mrs. Arthur Wise of the Christian church, will speak on the fifth word, "I thirst," while Rev. J. Morgan Cox, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will give the sixth word, "It is finished," and Rev. R. T. Campbell, pastor of the Methodist church will speak upon the seventh word, "Father into Thy hands I commend my Spirit."

Building Sub Chasers Bottoms Up

Here is an odd phase in the assembly of U. S. submarine chasers built by the revolutionary method developed by the Dravo Corp., in Pittsburgh. The 173-foot craft are built upside down, sections being welded in that position. The sections are then braced and turned right side up by specially-rigged gantry cranes, as shown above.

BRITISH DAMAGE
ST. NAZAIRE BASE

Sub Activities Will Be Crippled For Some Time, London Says

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, March 30.—Damage which British commandos inflicted at St. Nazaire in a daring Saturday raid should cripple that German submarine base for a year and curtail U-boat activities in the North Atlantic for some time, a well-informed source said today.

Any submarines in the basin probably were left high and dry, experts declared, by destruction of the pumping station and the main lock gate, while those now at sea will have to return to other bases.

They visualized the possibility that constant bombing of St. Nazaire by the RAF might make repairs so difficult the Germans would be forced to concentrate their undersea raiders elsewhere—perhaps at Lorient or Bordeaux.

Survivors of the commandos who carried out the raid received a heroes' welcome on their return home yesterday and their exploit was generally acclaimed as one of the most spectacular in British military history.

Acknowledging high losses, official reports pictured the raid as a great success.

Germany asserted that defense batteries had thwarted the main purpose of the raid by sinking the former American destroyer, Buchanan, before she could be rammed into the main lock of the basin with her five-ton load of explosives. This was flatly denied.

Capital Blanketed
By Heavy Snow Fall

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Washington dug out today from its heaviest March snowfall of record to count thousands of its trees broken or felled and many power lines disrupted by the unusual weather but no serious accidents were reported.

The snow fell Saturday night and most of yesterday, reaching a general depth of 15 to 18 inches though the weather bureau officially listed the depth as eight inches in downtown sectors. Nearly 3,000 men worked to clear streets this morning. Traffic moved on principal thoroughfares about as normal after being paralyzed most of yesterday.

The storm recalled that of January, 1922, when a 26-inch snowfall caused the collapse of the Knickerbocker theatre roof with the death of more than 100 persons.

'WAR' HOSPITAL WILL BE OPEN THIS WEEK

The emergency hospital, set up in the Masonic temple for public inspection Saturday and Sunday afternoons, attracted much attention on both days.

So much interest was shown, in fact, that the Medical Preparedness committee of the Civilian Defense council has acceded to many requests that the hospital be kept open for inspection this week.

From 7 to 9 each evening through Thursday those who have not had an opportunity may inspect this emergency setup.

The committee urges everyone in the city who has volunteered to lend equipment for the emergency hospitals to have it available at all times for quick call.

Annual Easter Egg
Hunt To Be Limited

Food conservation will cause a slight dent in plans for the city's annual Easter egg hunt, scheduled for Saturday, but nothing will be allowed to dampen the spirit of the youngsters attending the affair.

J. M. "Joe" Kelley, who arranges the pre-Easter treat, explained today that the egg hunt will be held at Reilly field Saturday morning for school children of the first, second and third grades only. This will take in boys and girls up to and including eight years of age.

Plenty of eggs are needed for coloring, despite the fact that not as many youngsters will be on hand for this season's program, Kelley said, and asked that persons wishing to donate eggs call the Memorial building, 5512.

BASKETBALL TEAM
IN TRAFFIC CRASH

Five Youths from Gary, Ind., Hurt As Auto Strikes Milk Truck

Five members of a Gary, Ind., basketball team, returning from a national tournament in Youngstown, were injured at 7:25 a. m. today when their automobile struck the rear of a milk truck on the Damascus road, two and a half miles west of Salem.

Walter Oesch, 57, of R. D. 1, Salem, the truck driver, who had stopped to make a left-hand turn into a lane, was uninjured, state highway patrolmen reported.

Most severely injured member of the basketball team was Miles Stanovich, 20, who suffered a possible skull fracture and abrasions of the forehead.

He was admitted to the Central Clinic as was John Trivanovich, 20, driver of the car, who received lacerations of the head and hands and knee abrasions.

James Patitsas, 22, Nick Garapich, 22, and Robert Filipovich, 20, received body bruises and were given first aid treatment. Patitsas received a possible fracture of the left ankle.

A half hour afterwards, at the scene of the first accident, an automobile driven by Harry McDate, 21, of Barborton, ran into the rear of a machine driven by Irene Lachmaier, 32, of Massillon, who had been slowed down due to the other wreckage on the highway. No one was injured.

No one was injured in an accident on Route 14, just south of the Route 165 junction, at 11:30 p. m. Saturday, according to the state patrol.

The patrolmen reported that a car driven by Joseph Beaudis, 31, of Youngstown, struck the rear of a parked truck which was in charge of Walter S. McKain, 38, of Canton. Pot torches were set around the truck which had run out of gas, the patrol said.

NAZIS ADMIT

Destroyer Goes Down, But Germans Claim Transport Sunk

(By Associated Press)

The war that Adolf Hitler started on the Polish frontier 31 months ago was today a tangled contest of sea and air power in western Europe and the Mediterranean basin, and, above all, an effort to break the deadlock on the 2,600-mile Russian front.

On the blizzard-swept Arctic seaway to Murmansk, the Germans acknowledged that one of the fuhrer's precious destroyers went down in battle with a convoy to Russia but claimed the sinking of a 10,000-ton transport loaded with tanks and munitions.

Once more in Libya, fighting columns of the British imperials struck into German and Italian positions behind the Tmimi-el Mechili line. In these Saturday night forays, it was said, highly mobile field guns were turned on Axis positions.

Some reported large air battles over Libya and claimed German fighter planes destroyed four British aircraft. New bombing raids on Tobruk and Malta were reported.

Nazi Shipping Hit

The British announced the action without detail and said that in Saturday night's raid on Germany's big Baltic port of Luebeck the RAF bombers struck down two intercepting planes while in last Thursday night's attack on the Ruhr valley one was downed.

There was no word in the RAF communiqué to substantiate a German radio report that German territory also was bombed last night.

The Berlin communiqué, issued after the broadcast, said that the Dutch coast was attacked in the night and that two British planes were shot down.

The British air ministry news service said the RAF was using fast fighter-bombers and night fighters in extended sweeps against enemy territory.

The Germans reported that renewed Russian attacks on the eastern front had collapsed. Specifically mentioned was the sector east of Kharkov. Armament factories on the upper Volga and the center of Moscow were bombed yesterday, the communiqué said.

Australian and American Air Blows Have Crippled Tenth of Nippon's Entire Cruiser Strength.

Anzacs Claim

(By Associated Press.)

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 30.—Japanese forces have made a 27-mile withdrawal in New Guinea as the result of floods rolling down the mountainsides of the Markham valley and their position is further menaced by heavy American and Australian air blows which have crippled a tenth of their entire cruiser strength, Australian war reports said today.

Japanese warplanes continued to strike at the outer bastions of Australia's defenses, however.

Darwin had its eighth raid of the war this afternoon. No details of the attack were known immediately.

A bomber and three navy fighters also struck at Port Moresby on the south coast of New Guinea but were reported driven off before causing damage in the town's 22nd attack.

1,025 Foe Planes Destroyed Since Pearl Harbor

Japan's recession from the high point of her invasion of Australia's outer islands was marked by Air Minister A. S. Drakeford, who declared that in addition to her cruiser losses she had suffered destruction of 48 bombers and fighters in recent weeks.

(Military quarters in London said official allied reports list 1,025 Japanese planes destroyed since Pearl Harbor. This would be from a fourth to a sixth of the Japanese air force.)

Dispatches from Port Moresby said the wet season in New Guinea is just beginning, and as a result, Japan's painful occupation of the valley has been made a fruitless accomplishment.

Drakeford said "the American and RAAF attacks on Lae March 10 and since have probably crippled more than 10 per cent of the total cruiser strength with which the Japanese entered the war."

(This meant that four or five cruisers had been destroyed or put out of action, since Japan is estimated to have had 40 or 50 cruisers to begin with. In addition she has lost numerous cruisers in the Netherlands East Indies, off Wake Island and in other war theaters.)

Besides the 48 Japanese bombers and fighters reported lost over Australia and surrounding islands in recent weeks, Drakeford said at least 15 others had been damaged. Previous estimates placed Japan's losses around the Australian islands at upwards of 50 ships, including transport and cargo vessels, and thousands of men.

(The Melbourne radio, according to a CBS pickup, said today that Japanese planes shot down showed signs of Japanese maintenance problems in the New Guinea climate. One captured fighter's cylinders were so heavily coated with carbon that the engine could not function in first class manner, the broadcast said. It added that one Australian squadron now in action had 200 enemy planes to its credit in the Middle East.)

Rationing Boards Instructed To Carefully Examine Every Case

Ration boards today were ordered not to give tire quotas to every applicant as State Rationing Administrator Harry T. Beckman issued tire and tube quotas for the various counties for April.

Columbiana county's quota distribution for the new month includes 68 new passenger car tires, 36 retreads and 52 tubes, in addition to 200 truck tires, 167 truck retreads and 160 tubes.

The Mahoning county allotment is 161 passenger car tires, 83 retreads and 432 tubes; 361 truck tires, 322 truck retreads and 342 tubes.

"Local rationing boards cannot afford to be lax by failing to thoroughly examine each case," Beckman said in announcing that Ohio would have 5,249 tires and 14,769 tubes available for eligible motorists for trucks and buses there were 14,393 tires, 13,612 tubes and 12,831 retreads.

BISHOP SCHREMS
IS "LITTLE BETTER"

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, March 30.—"The condition of Archbishop Joseph Schrembs, ill of pneumonia, is a 'little better' today."

The archbishop appeared pretty bright and he spoke a few words now and then to those who were with him," Bishop James A. McFadden reported after a visit to the prelate's bedside in St. John's hospital. "But he still has a long way to go."

The 76-year-old archbishop, Bishop of the Cleveland Catholic diocese, was taken critically ill last Thursday and several hours later was administered extreme unction. Since, he has rallied several times. Prayers for the prelate were offered at all masses in chapels and churches in the diocese yesterday.

ERA OF BAD FAITH

Vichy's reassurances to this government about not helping the Axis have little if any weight. The only reassuring thing about the reassurances is the accompanying report that Washington is skeptical.

This is an era of international bad faith, begun by the governments that employed reassurances to deceive the intended victims of their warlike intentions. It will be ended when those governments have been punished for their perfidy and made incapable of further harm.

Germany, ablest practitioner of the art of lulling sucker governments to sleep, still is capable of inflicting great harm. There cannot be the slightest question about its willingness to use the Vichy government for its own purposes; there can be only a small question about its ability to do so.

The Vichy government exists through German sufferance. It can be wiped out at Germany's will. One mass bombing raid probably would be a sufficient threat to obtain anything the Nazi masters wanted. If Vichy now promises that French ports will be barred to the Axis, that the French fleet won't be turned over to the Axis, and that no further help will be given to Axis forces in Africa, that in itself seems sufficient reason to be doubly on guard. There is no promise any government can make that is worth taking seriously unless default can be punished, and it is highly doubtful whether the United States is in a position yet to punish the Vichy government for compliance with orders from Berlin.

ONE THING LEADING TO ANOTHER

Though sometimes spoken of carelessly as a sign of spring, the grass fire—also known as fireman's headache—really is proof of spring.

When the grass is dry enough to burn, someone will get the idea. The fire will start harmlessly in one corner of the field. It will creep along modestly, making a great deal of smoke. Everything will be fine.

Then a gust of wind will catch it and—whoosh! There will be a terrific crackling and a lot of excitement. Somebody's garage will be threatened. The whole neighborhood will turn out to share in the apprehension.

Someone, of course, will turn in a fire alarm, and the firemen will show up, looking as bored and disgusted as they feel, because it is the seventh grass fire they have helped to put out that day. Personally, they're mighty glad when people who play with matches, most of them adults, get tired of proving that spring is here and settle down to enjoy summer.

THAT'S JUST THE TROUBLE

Frantic efforts to attract attention from the 40-hour-week complaint by drawing red herrings and other asserted fish across the trail still haven't obscured the source of the bad smell that started the trouble.

As one New Deal apologist, Jay Franklin, blandly put in his newspaper column the other day, "the 40-hour week does not impede production and overtime pay does not cost the manager any sums which are not covered in his contract with the government." That's just the trouble—that contract with the government.

The government has shown in the past that it is prepared to pay a high price for the goodwill of organized labor. But in wartime the high price isn't taken out of the profits of management. It comes out of the pockets of the people who are putting up the money for war production.

Red herrings to the contrary notwithstanding, it is going to be mighty hard to explain why—because during a depression the work week was limited to 40 hours to spread employment—there should be a bonus for working more than 40 hours a week on war production. Even if the Roosevelt administration doesn't mind the extra expense, the taxpayers do.

NO TIME FOR FEVER

The ennu that creeps over a complacent victim like the balmy air that helps to produce it is contrary to public policy in 1942. There is no time for spring fever.

There is no time to sit on the back steps in the warming sun and wish for a wife to whistle with; no time to saunter among the green things, noticing how the sod underfoot is beginning to grow firm; no time to peer closely at the swelling buds or to break off a rose branch to see if it is alive; no time to take deeply appreciative but otherwise useless draughts of the fragrant spring air.

Spring, for the duration, is important only because it is the season when large-scale offensives are undertaken. Surely no one would confess to be more interested in seeing whether the robins are going to build in the eave of the garage this year than in seeing whether Adolf Hitler will start to let more blood in the direction of Turkey. Those who do feel that way about it, of course, can't help it, so they'll have to keep one eye on spring as momentous events whizz them along to some great and momentous destiny which, when reached, probably won't be half so important as the fact that right in the midst of it all the earth came to life again.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, March 31

EXCEPTIONALLY propitious auguries are found in this day's sidereal pattern. There is forecast of a radical, sudden and probably dramatic upheaval or change, which may have not only far reaching and profound effect on the life but give solidity, cohesion and enduring stability to the fortunes and the future. Perhaps strangers as well as old friends, relatives, elders or old-established institutions may hold conspicuous influence in this. There should be a relief from static affairs, with an increase and security in real possessions, perhaps trusts.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of thrilling, and dynamic as well as radical moves, changes, association and objectives, which will dramatize and give point to the future destinies, as well as give solid growth, security and endurance to the fortunes, progress and personal felicity. Romance and adventure as well as stabilization of the possessions, investments and position and prestige are presaged. There may be surprising benefits from elders, relatives or old institutions.

A child born on this day should have unusual talents, with much originality, ingenuity and skill sustained by sincerity, depth and sound judgment and purpose.

JOB FOR RURAL YOUTHS

COLUMBUS, March 30.—Ralph A. Howard, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, today urged rural youths to help offset the "increasing shortage of new agricultural machinery" by reclaiming junked equipment and aiding farmers to repair worn implements.

He estimated that the 1942 machinery allotment was about 55 per cent of last year's, adding that "the situation will be a lot worse in another year."

Howard outlined a program by which vocational agriculture teachers and students could help farmers meet further implement breakdowns and said the plan would go "a long way toward solving the machinery shortage."

He asked teachers to set up repair study classes for farmers, to make school shops available Saturdays and evenings to give personal service to agriculture workers unable to attend regular courses and to encourage home repair shops.

Instructors were requested to encourage boys in salvaging usable parts from discarded machinery to be sold to farmers at a nominal price.

Asserting that the state vocational agriculture program must be geared to war conditions, Howard called for increased production, careful planning of family gardens and cooperation with farm labor agencies.

Meetings should be held, he said, to acquaint city youth interested in summer vacation farm work with the job ahead of them.

EXPLAINING THE WORK OF VITAMINS

Science Finding Out About Them, Says Clendening

SOMETHING like a really sensible explanation of the way the vitamins work is appearing. For a good many years since their discovery the only thing known about them was that, for instance, if Vitamin A was left out of the diet, it caused eye trouble such as night blindness and infection of the eye.

If Vitamin B was left out of the diet it caused neuritis. If Vitamin C was left out of the diet, it caused scurvy and an absence of Vitamin D resulted in rickets. Research workers continued to find vitamins such as Vitamins E, K, and P, substances which they named pyroxidone, biotin, pantothenic acid and if one or the other was removed from the diet of an experimental animal, certain effects in the way of ill health appeared in the animal.

Nobody knew just why these effects occurred. They didn't occur because the vitamins supplied an actual chemical to the tissues affected. For instance, Vitamin B, if removed from the diet, causes neuritis, but the chemical structure of Vitamin B is nothing like the chemical structure of a nerve. Therefore it is not because the nerve lacks an essential chemical to produce growth that Vitamin B deficiency causes nerve trouble.

We are beginning to find out that the vitamins probably act as catalysts. A catalyst effects a chemical reaction in a definite way but it doesn't enter into the reaction. For instance, potassium placed in a test tube with oxygen and hydrogen will accelerate the combination of the oxygen and hydrogen but the potassium will not be changed itself.

Vitamin B acts in this way. It apparently speeds up all the exchanges of food in the body, allows the body to burn it more quickly, in fact speeds up all the life processes. It has been found that climate and temperature affect the use of Vitamin B. In cool climates Vitamin B remains in the body longer and keeps heat generation going. In tropical climates it is eliminated rapidly and the food remains inert in the body and it turns into fat rather than energy so that in hot climates the natives are more likely to be sleepy and more likely to be obese.

Incidentally, I am glad to see that a good word is being said for my old friend meat. For years every hygienist condemned meat. Nowadays they say that meat is the best source we have for Vitamin B and we all need some at least once or twice a week.

Vitamin B is not a single substance. There are about eleven subdivisions of Vitamin B, all more or less related, but all performing more or less different functions.

Incidentally, it is possible to get too much Vitamin B; at least it is possible to get too much thiamin chloride, which is Vitamin B1, so it won't do simply to stuff yourself on Vitamin B.

OUR READERS

NO SECTARIANISM

Editor, The News:

As suggested in The News Thursday night by a Community Chest contributor, an unfortunate circumstance has arisen in our city, in allowing churches to enter into the Community Chest drive.

Should church charities be allowed to claim a part of the money collected in the chest drive, there should not be any partiality shown. The Protestant churches have the same privilege of collecting for charities, as the Catholic church. Why the tendency to favor one church over another?

Sectarianism has no place in our effort to collect cash for the legitimate purposes in our community. This will inhibit the progress made in former years as some of us who have contributed liberally in the past will not contribute this year.

The committee should not be influenced by pressure from within or out for contributions for any church organizations other than the Salvation Army as they reach the people that never enter the church. Before the Community Chest drive is launched the committee should appropriate cash for the Protestant churches or withdraw the Catholic church from the list. A CHEST SUBSCRIBER.

"HUTCH" OF THE R.A.F. by PETER MUIR

David Hutchinson, back at his post of squadron leader of The Hornets, was definitely embarrassed. For several days after his escape and the capture of dangerous Fritz von Spee, there was not a newspaper in England that did not feature his name, photograph, and accounts of his exploits. HUTCHINSON ESCAPES NAZI PRISON AND RETURNS TO AIR, OR AMERICAN FLYER, OR AMERICAN ACE ESCAPES NAZIS AND CAPTURES FIFTH COLUMNIST. These and many other glowing headlines sang his praises throughout the land.

And to add fuel to this outburst of publicity, Hutch had returned to his work of fighter-pilot with something that he had never had before—a consuming hatred of the enemy that had not only taken the toll of Mac, his best friend, but also Philip, the brother of his best friend. The result was an average of a plane a day for his first week back at the controls of his new Spitfire which he christened "Tin Can, Junior" in memory of the old plane he had lost in Brittany.

HUTCH BRINGS DOWN ANOTHER, became a familiar headline, and when he was cited for the Victoria Cross the press let itself out. Even the more conservative papers gave him streamer headlines, and featured photographs. He had become a national hero and was being hailed as such.

Now Hutch supposed he would have to go up to London, and be decorated. Of course, he was delighted by the honor—England's highest for courage—but actually he dreaded it. And they made such a fuss when they pinned the V. C. on you. Well, there would be one compensation—Wendy's ambulance section had been transferred to London. At least he would see her, and she would give him strength to go through with it.

There had been three days of heavy weather, with much rain, low scudding clouds, and The Hornets had been grounded. The fourth, just ten days after the return from Brittany, was clear, and wind dried the field quickly. Lunch on was over, and the pilots were sitting about the mess hall, talking, playing the gramophone, and joking Hutch about being a publicity hound, when the C. O. entered hurriedly. "Quick, fellows, a scramble. They're coming towards London from the southeast in waves. Can't tell how many."

Almost before he had finished, the pilots were running full tilt across the field to their planes, and in two minutes by the watch Hutch, closely followed by the others, was off the ground and climbing. It was not long before the attacking planes were sighted. There were hundreds of them, Hutch judged. But there were other English planes, too, coming in from all sides to the attack, and white puffs of smoke told that the archies were at work on the ground. It was going to be one grand dog-fight. Hutch's jaws hardened and his eyes smiled as he drove his plane on at full speed.

The Hornets were the first R. A. F. squadron to reach the point of attack. Then other squadrons of Hurricanes and Spitfires. The air was literally filled with swirling, whining planes in the most tremendous scramble in the history of aviation. Planes blazed up and dropped like ducks before the gun of a good shot.

It was such a mad mix up, with every man for himself, that no one could describe it. Hutch had lost sight of all his squadron except Rusty, who some how or other had gotten ahead of him. He saw his friend send a giant bomber to earth, and then—"Rusty!" he yelled into the radio telephone, but it was too late. A Messerschmitt had dived on his tail from high above and set the plane on fire so suddenly that escape by parachute was impossible. The tiny fighter dove headlong, blazing like a shooting star.

Hutch gritted his teeth, and through his dry eyes, dilated with fury, he saw red. "Mac, Philip, and now Rusty. Twenty—a hundred fold they must pay. They must pay me, David Hutchinson". From then on he was like a wild thing, and his plane was wild with him. Ground observers wondered and gasped as they watched the Spitfire dive, machine-guns and accelerator wide open, bank, climb, dive, bank, climb. When the Nazis were in full flight over the Channel, and his fuel supply was too low to continue the chase, Hutch turned back. Five planes had gone down before the fury of his attack.

"Good Old Tin Can, Junior", he said, for the first time giving attention to the plane. "You're a worthy successor to — My gosh!" Something was wrong with the motor. There was still plenty of gasoline, and he was losing height rapidly, and all his skill would not make it climb or even hold its present altitude. Ten thousand feet, nine thousand feet, eight thousand feet. It kept dropping at a dizzy rate. Could he make the field? He would try. A forced landing now when he couldn't choose his spot might be bad. Seven thousand feet, six thousand feet, five thousand feet. When he passed over London his altitude was only two thousand feet, and he knew that he could not make it. There must be a field or a golf links somewhere, and he began to look around desperately. He was still high enough to bail out, but that meant the loss of his plane, and Spitfires were none too plentiful.

Off to the left, about a mile away, he saw what he was looking for—a golf links. He banked and headed for it, but now he was a scant hundred yards from the ground and he knew that he could not make it. By a superhuman effort he lifted the plane over a clump of trees at the edge of the links, and brought it down. But he could not stop the forward motion in time. Desperately he struggled to swing around. Crash! The plane rose over into a deep sand pit bunker and he lost consciousness.

When Hutch came to he was lying on a bed. His head ached dreadfully, throbbing and throbbing, and he was in total darkness. Or was it darkness? His first thought was that he had lost his eyesight and he put his hands to his eyes. They were heavily covered with bandages.

"Wendy! Thank God!"

She took both his hands in hers. "Yes my sweet one. You'll be all right soon. I've just seen the doctor."

"What happened, and where am I?"

"Near London, David, and as to what happened, I'm told you played the fifth hole badly and landed in a bunker. And now, my love, prepare yourself for bad news—you're going to have to marry me."

His lips smiled, and those shadows that he would not admit were dimples, formed in his cheeks.

"That's not bad news, Wendy. But then the smile disappeared. What did she mean, have to? "You don't mean—that I shall never fly—I'm not—I'm blind!"

She hastened to reassure him that he had not lost his eyesight. "But my sweet one, you will not fight again." She explained in detail what the doctor had told her. He had received a shock to some nerve, she could not remember the name, when his plane crashed. It meant that for some time, perhaps two or three years, he would have trouble changing the focus of his sight from near to far, and vice versa, as rapidly as was necessary to a pursuit pilot.

"He says that it will not bother you in everyday life at all, not even for reading, and that your services will be invaluable as a trainer of young pilots. They worship you in England, darling, and so do I worship you." She bent over and kissed his hands. "And I've a surprise for you. Father's up from the country. He was with me when I heard of the accident, and he wants to see you. He's outside now. May I call?"

Lord Harrowsdale came in and shook the aviator's hand warmly. For a moment he could not speak, and when he did his voice was gruff from emotion. "My boy," he began, seeking carefully for his words. "My boy, England's proud of you, and who would I be not to follow suit. I am proud of you." He hesitated to clear his voice, and there was dead silence in the room as the two young people waited for him to continue. "In my family we have always attached much importance to titles, and I had always thought of my son-in-law with a seat in the House of Lords, where many generations of my forefathers have sat. Yes, many have helped to govern, even to create, this vast Empire of ours, but none has ever fended it more valiantly than you, none has ever been awarded the Victoria Cross. And so, my boy, I gladly trade a seat in the House of Lords for a Victoria Cross. Lady Harrowsdale and I shall be happy and proud to have you as a member of our family." Again he shook hands, then hurried out of the room to hide his emotion.

Wendy took David's hands again and kissed them, and he could feel hot tears on her cheeks.

"Darling one", he said, trying hard to grasp this new situation, the suddenness of which had left him mentally stunned. He had lost his air, but the compensation of having the most wonderful girl was great indeed. "Wendy."

"Yes, David."

"You—you're sure my eyes—I mean, you swear I'm not going blind?"

"I swear."

Again the smile twisted up the corners of his mouth, and the shadows in his cheeks reappeared. "Then when shall we be married?"

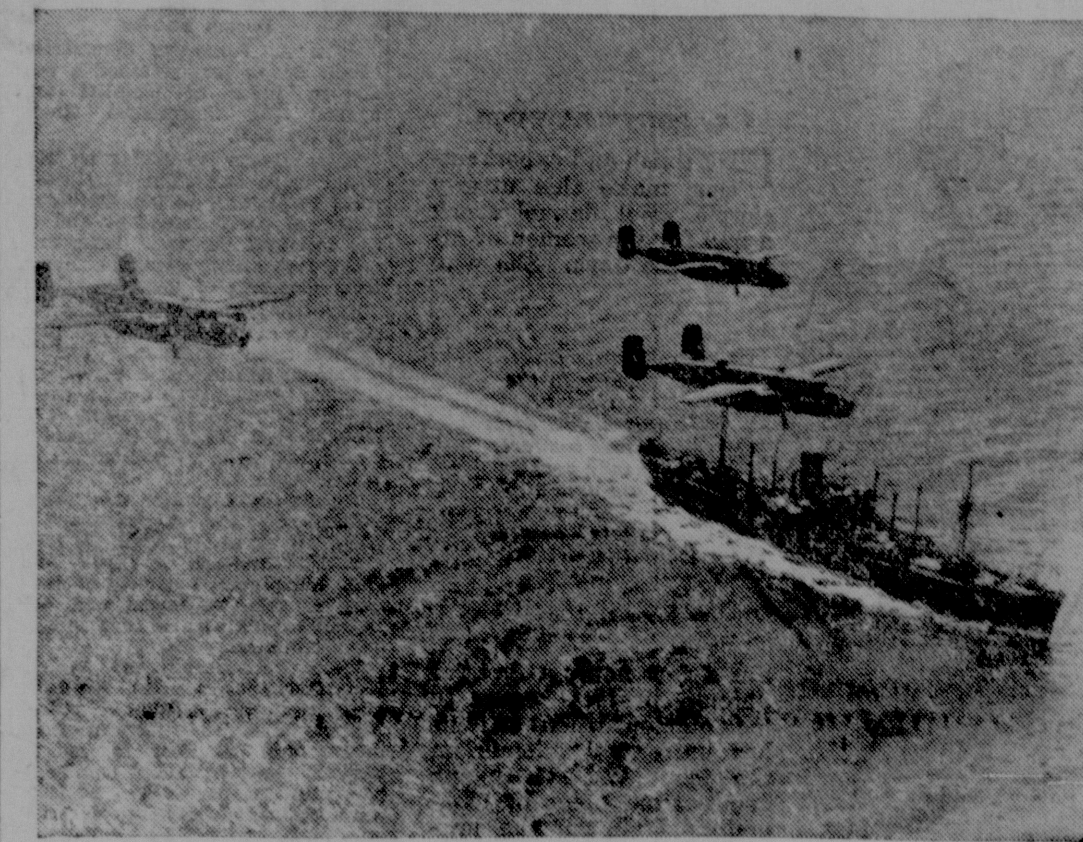

She knelt by the bed and pressed her lips hard against his. "Oh David, I'm so, so very happy. As soon as possible, of course."

"Wizard, perfectly wizard!" he said before she silenced him with another long kiss.

On a Trip With Uncle Sam's Atlantic Patrol

For the first time, press photographers were permitted to accompany a flight of U. S. Army bombers on a part of their route on Atlantic air patrol duty. Looking down from the patrol plane you can see an Allied freighter and two Army bombers hovering over it. The bombers afford a real menace to Axis submarines which have been raiding shipping off the eastern U. S. coast.

Did Teacher's Book Hit Danny?

After Danny came home and said his teacher, Miss Constance Davis, hit him with a book when she caught him whispering, Danny's mother, Mrs. Virginia Leslie, and her husband, paid a visit to the schoolroom and promptly proceeded to give Miss Davis a beating with a scout belt. At the opening of the trial at Lafayette, Ind., several of Miss Davis' pupils testified that she had merely turned Danny's head with her hand and did not strike him. Miss Davis is seen with her attorney at the courthouse, in top photo. Below, Danny talks with his mother during a recess in the trial.

LOGISTICS

Strategy is the planning of warfare.

Tactics is the execution of those plans.

Logistics, the third branch of military science, is the supplying of everything necessary to strategy and tactics—in the right amount, at the right place, at the right time.

Now, in total war, we must apply the science of Logistics to all of our activities as a nation—civilian as well as military. WE-ALL are part of the Victory Program.

Our supply lines are literally life lines of the United Nations. Man-power and munition-power are the controlling factors.

Today, Logistics dictates strategy—determines tactics.

Congress has appropriated billions of dollars but it cannot appropriate one single second of time.

Time favors those who appreciate it as the priceless commodity it now is.

In war, when we save time we save lives—and we make our individual contribution to Victory.

PARIS CLEANERS ARE EASTER AIDS

They'll Serve Many Customers With War Economy In Order

Easter, symbol of renewal and rejoicing, carries much significance to everyone. It is generally interpreted as a turning point in the seasons, a break from cold, drab winter, and a turn toward verdant spring.

Economy, naturally, will be a significant part of the program this season. For years, of course, folks have been relying on the services of the Paris Cleaners at the clean-up time of the year. This year, with war-time economy an essential, rather than a choice, the Salem plant will be called upon to play a leading role in the Easter and spring program.

It is suggested that patrons of the Paris Cleaners call in their orders as early as possible. Easter is only a few days away and the Paris will have plenty of calls.

MILFORD, N. H.—Civil war cannon balls and a cannon which mark a memorial plot here, soon will be converted into modern armaments. Voters at the annual town meeting agreed unanimously to turn the relics over to the government for scrap.

Reel operates on full race ball bearings running in oil, adjustable.

Extra Heavy Materials

Extra heavy 1/2 inch solid steel shrub bar, taper keyed and bolted. Castings throughout of time-tested grey iron, still the proven material for lawn mower construction.

Weather resisting aluminum finish with attractive red, gold and black trim, plus brilliant chrome hub caps.

Adjustable cutting height from 1 1/2 inch to 2 1/2 inches. Furnished in 16 and 20 inch cutting widths.

The Eclipse natural grip all steel handle assures positive mower control with ease not possible with other type handles. The design of natural grip gives you easy turning and maneuverability. This design patented handle eliminates wrist and forearm strain and greatly reduces all mowing efforts—another exclusive Eclipse feature.

Surely a lawn mower you will want to see before you make a purchase and remember lawn mowers are going to become scarce as the season advances.

RUTLAND, Vt.—Zarber wire entanglements will protect this city's water supply from trespassers. Health officials plan to stretch several miles of salvaged wire along the shores of Brooks that feed the municipal reservoir to help forestall contamination.

PASADENA, Cal.—Ernest Smith, at a local sanitarium, wrote a poem entitled "My Fair America" and sent it to a local paper. Mrs. Pearl E. Lutes liked it and set it to music. The Cine-Mart Music Publishing company heard it swung and published it. And thus a new patriotic number came into being.

IT'S UNPATRIOTIC TO WASTE GASOLINE

Take Your Car to Grate's, Have It Checked For Economy

E. L. Grate, proprietor of the widely-known garage bearing his name, describes Careless John's car as not an old one, but just a car which has been neglected except possibly for gas and oil. Careless John is not a reckless driver, but he is reckless in allowing his car to become a hazard on the streets and highways, and worse yet, consuming more motor fuel and oil than it should, both very much needed by our naval and military units.

No thought is given by this driver to the dent in fenders and auto body, minor motor troubles and a host of mechanical imperfections. No effort is made to repair these faults as they arise unless it is required to keep the car going. Tires, battery and lights are left unchecked.

Costly Repairs Follow

When Careless John permits the fender dents to become rusty and ragged, windows cracked and broken and the motor barely operating, it's costing him real money to have a car. Mr. Grate points out that many drivers in this class have their autos go dead on them along the road, in the garage or in a downtown parking space.

Then comes the cost of calling an emergency truck or a tow car. The driver and those in the car are late to work or late in keeping an appointment. Then a mechanic tells Careless John roughly how much it will cost to get the auto back in shape. The result is a big hole in the pocketbook, or a startling low figure for a trade-in.

Handle Any Job

Unlike the "One Hoss Shay," Careless John's car can be returned to first-class condition. But the cost will be twice or three times as large as it would have been had the car been taken to the Grate garage right after each trouble had been encountered.

The Grate garage has the modern equipment and skilled workmen to handle body straightening and repair correction of all motor and mechanical troubles, painting and general garage servicing.

Mr. And Mrs. Vernon Lodge Honored On 50th Anniversary

More than 85 guests were welcomed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon A. Lodge on E. Fourth st. Sunday afternoon and evening during the open house in observance of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Lodge, married March 31 in Salem, have spent their entire lives here. Mr. Lodge has been an employee of the Denning Co. for more than 25 years. They are members of the Christian church.

PARIS CLEANERS ARE EASTER AIDS

They'll Serve Many Customers With War Economy In Order

Easter, symbol of renewal and rejoicing, carries much significance to everyone. It is generally interpreted as a turning point in the seasons, a break from cold, drab winter, and a turn toward verdant spring.

Economy, naturally, will be a significant part of the program this season. For years, of course, folks have been relying on the services of the Paris Cleaners at the clean-up time of the year. This year, with war-time economy an essential, rather than a choice, the Salem plant will be called upon to play a leading role in the Easter and spring program.

It is suggested that patrons of the Paris Cleaners call in their orders as early as possible. Easter is only a few days away and the Paris will have plenty of calls.

MILFORD, N. H.—Civil war cannon balls and a cannon which mark a memorial plot here, soon will be converted into modern armaments. Voters at the annual town meeting agreed unanimously to turn the relics over to the government for scrap.

EVERY HOME NEEDS GOOD LAWN MOWER

Eclipse One of Best Made, Salona Supply Company Points Out

The Eclipse hand and power driven lawn mowers are modern to the minute rugged in construction. In fact, the world's best, according to the management of the Salona Supply company.

Built in a wide price range and with many exclusive features the Eclipse line certainly does look like and seems to be all the manufacturers claim for their product. The Salona Supply company has sold many of them the past few years and they claim every customer has been more than pleased.

The Eclipse model for example is claimed to give you more lawn mower value than any other mower known. The exclusive patented features are backed by these sterling performance advantages:

Rugged rollomatic puncture-proof tires. Rib tread.

Free rolling on precision ground steel axles.

Reel operates on full race ball bearings running in oil, adjustable.

Extra Heavy Materials

Extra heavy 3/4 inch solid steel shrub bar, taper keyed and belted. Castings throughout of time-tested grey iron, still the proven material for lawn mower construction.

Weather resisting aluminum finish with attractive red, gold and black trim, plus brilliant chrome hub caps.

Adjustable cutting height from 1/2 inch to 1 1/2 inches. Finished in 16 1/8 and 20 inch cutting widths.

The Eclipse natural grip all steel handle assures positive mower control with ease not possible with other type handles. The design of natural grip gives you easy turning and maneuverability. This design patented handle eliminates wrist and forearm strain and greatly reduces all mowing efforts — another exclusive Eclipse feature.

Surely a lawn mower you will want to see before you make a purchase and remember lawn mowers are going to become scarce as the season advances.

RUTLAND, Vt.—Barber wire entanglements will protect this city's water supply from trespassers. Health officials plan to stretch several miles of salvaged wire along the shores of brooks that feed the municipal reservoir to help forestall contamination.

PASADENA, Cal.—Ernest Smith, at a local sanitation, wrote a poem entitled "My Fair America" and sent it to a local paper. Mrs. Pearl E. Lutes liked it and set it to music. The Cine-Mart Music Publishing company heard it swung and published it. And thus a new patriotic number came into being.

IT'S UNPATRIOTIC TO WASTE GASOLINE

Take Your Car to Grate's, Have It Checked For Economy

E. L. Grate, proprietor of the widely-known garage bearing his name, describes Careless John's car as not an old one, but just a car which has been neglected except possibly for gas and oil. Careless John is not a reckless driver, but he is reckless in allowing his car to become a hazard on the streets and highways, and worse yet, consuming more motor fuel and oil than it should, both very much needed by our naval and military units.

No thought is given by this driver to the dent in fenders and auto body, minor motor troubles and a host of mechanical imperfections. No effort is made to repair these faults as they arise unless it is required to keep the car going. Tires, battery and lights are left unchecked.

Costly Repairs Follow

When Careless John permits the fender dents to become rusty and ragged, windows cracked and broken and the motor barely operating, it's costing him real money to have a car.

Mr. Grate points out that many drivers in this class have their autos go dead on them along the road, in the garage or in a downtown parking space.

Then comes the cost of calling an emergency truck or a tow car. The driver and those in the car are late to work or late in keeping an appointment. Then a mechanic tells Careless John roughly how much it will cost to get the auto back in shape. The result is a big hole in the pocketbook or a startling low figure for a trade-in.

Handle Any Job

Unlike the "One Hoss Shay," Careless John's car can be returned to first-class condition. But the cost will be twice or three times as large as it would have been had the car been taken to the Grate garage right after each trouble had been encountered.

The Grate garage has the modern equipment and skilled workmen to handle body straightening and repair correction of all motor and mechanical troubles, painting and general garage servicing.

IT IS JUST AS IMPORTANT TO HAVE WHEELS BALANCED As To Have Alignment Corrected!

Kent Getz Hardwares Cop Eighth Annual Little Cities Tourney

Down Louisville Team In Finals, 54-53, As Girard Bows In Consolation Fray

Staving off a Louisville rally in the last quarter after leading at the half by 35-18, the Kent Getz Hardwares copped the eighth annual Little Cities basketball tournament, Saturday night, defeating Louisville, 54-53, in one of the most exciting games witnessed on the Memorial building court in some time.

Dick Reash scored 14 points in a first half attack which gave the Kent team an almost unbelievable lead of 18 points at the intermission.

After trailing by a huge margin, the Louisville five launched a scoring drive which was to see them overtake the Kent lead in the fourth period. With Bob Zeiger and Joe Elioune paring the attack they outscored Kent in the third period, 16-9, to slash the Kent lead to 44-36. In the last period, they continued their drive and midway in the fourth period overtook Kent, 48-47, as Chuck Smith, judged the best pivotman in the tourney, sat on the bench suffering from a cramp in his leg. Smith reentered the game and once more the Kent attack began to function in the proper order.

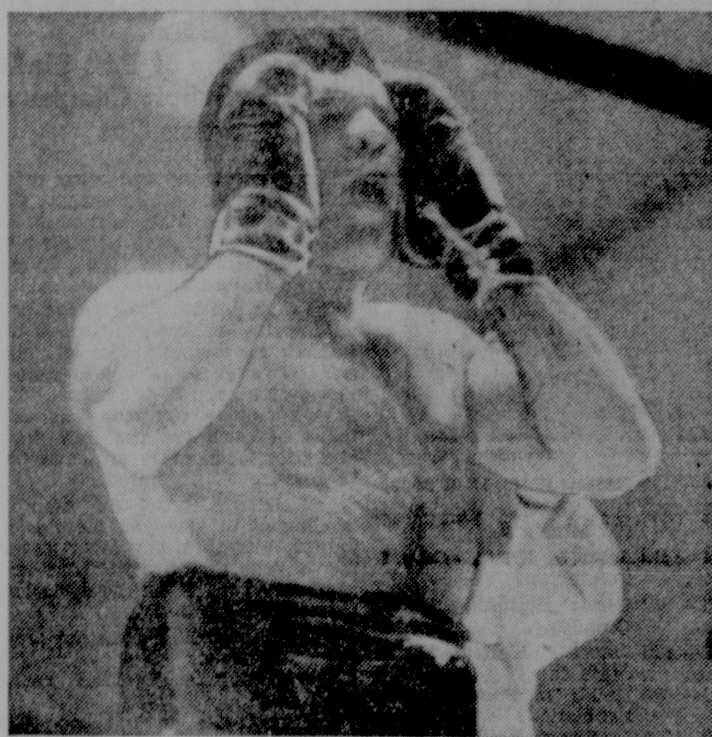

Reash tallied 26
Dick Reash tallied what proved to be the winning margin when he worked himself loose under the bucket while the entire Louisville team tried to take the ball from the other four Kent men. He was spotted under the bucket and a fast pass and a layup shot spelled defeat for the game. Louisville quintet which reached the finals for the first time in all the years they have appeared here. Dick Reash tallied 26 points to lead the Kent Getz five to victory while Zeiger and Elioune tallied 21 and 14, respectively, to pace Louisville. To reach the finals, Kent had disposed of Augusta, Parma Heights, North Canton and Canal Fulton while Louisville licked Carrollton, Girard, New Brighton and Mineral Ridge.

Yales Stop Girard
In the consolation game, the North Canton Yale Clothes tripped the Girard Spartans, 58-50, despite a 23-point barrage by Kenny Bergman, erstwhile Youngstown College flash. The Spartans missed 15 free throws to blow whatever chance they had of winning the game. The Yales started fast and held a 34-21 lead at the half. Bergman went to work in earnest then as he began to roll up his total. After scoring 16 points in the first half, he tallied 13 more in the final half and might have had more had his teammates passed to him when he was in the clear under the basket instead of taking long shots in the last quarter.

All-Tourney Team Listed
Chosen on the all-tournament team were Dick and Bob Reash, Chuck Smith and Cleon West from the champion Kent outfit, Joe Elioune and Bob Zeiger of Louisville, Kenny Bergman of Girard, Dick Huddleston and Don Snyder of North Canton and Simon of Canal Fulton. West was voted the most valuable player. He directed the Kent offense and came through several times with much needed two pointers. It marked the first time in the history of the event that the most valuable player trophy had not gone to the tourney's high point man. Dick Reash tallied 72 points to take that honor while Chuck Smith, his teammate, was second with 65.

In reaching the consolation game, Girard defeated the Salem Scotts by a 35-24 count. "Turk" Davy, Herb Brown and Kenny Bergman shared scoring honors for the winners while Bob Ritchie tallied nine to pace the losers. Bergman, who later took tourney high point honors for a single game, was held to eight points as this bunch of high

'Oh, What a Short Count!'

Crying "Oh, what a short count," big Abe Simon holds his head and yelps about the decision in his bout with Joe Louis in New York. Many experts declared that the huge, 255-pound Simon had risen just before the tell-tale ten, in the sixth round, but that Louis was clearly on his way to a kayo victory sooner or later, having floored the challenger twice in previous rounds.

The Colonial Finance keglers were upset by Eagles No. 1 team in two games in a Grate Ladies league match bowled on the Grate lanes over the weekend. Ruth Hine and Olive Ramsey both topped 200 in the second game, the only one won by the league leaders.

Coy's took one game of their series with Halds and lost a fine chance to pick up some of the 16-game lead sported by the Finches keglers. In another match, Coy's shutout Schwartz's to pare the lead somewhat. Kaufmans scored a three game win over the A. A. A. to take over fourth place.

In other league matches, Hi-Ho, copped two from Eagles No. 2 and Schwartz took two from Endres-Gross.

In a Commercial league match, the league leading Zimmermans scored a shutout over Shastens as G. Oesch fired a 214 to lead the way.

The Tryouts and the Presses scored wins in rollofs of Mullins league postponed matches on the Grate alleys over the weekend. The Tryouts copped two from the Finches while the Presses rolled over the Office twice.

In special matches rolled on the Masonic alleys Saturday night, the Salem Eagles men's and women's teams won over men's and women's teams from the New Castle Moose. White and Tubbs rolled 213 and 209, respectively, to lead the locals to their 2534 to 2457 win in the men's match while Frieda Orr fired an even 200 to pace the women in their 2127 to 1991 triumph.

Jess Hays, Alliance kegler who is well known in Salem, rolled a 675 series in the ABC tourney at Columbus last Friday. Hays opened his series with a smashing 266 game, slipped from his redhot pace to register a 175, and then anchored his series with a 234 game.

BUCS, ST. LOUIS BROWNS TAKE LEAD IN CITRUS LEAGUE

Big Leaguers Split Even In 64 Intra-League Diamond Battles

NEW YORK, March 30.—Major league baseball teams are getting plenty of exercise in the sun-bathed citrus circuit, but they may have to wait until the July all-star game to determine anything in the way of superiority between the American and National leagues.

Sixty-eight exhibition games have sent teams from one league against those from the other in the first month of Grapefruit competition, and today they are neck and neck, with each league owning 34 decisions.

First place in the Grapefruit standings is shared by the Pittsburgh Pirates and the St. Louis Browns. The Pirates have won 12 of their 16 starts and the Browns nine out of 12 for a percentage of .750 each.

Both teams, incidentally, also top their respective circuits in inter-league competition. The Browns have won all five of their games against National league teams. The Bucs have taken five out of six from American league clubs.

Washington's Senators are pushing the pace-setters with 14 victories in 19 games—all against major league opposition.

Fourth place belongs to the St. Louis Cardinals. They swept a two-game series with the Yanks during the weekend, running their spring record to 14 wins and seven losses.

In 18 games against American league teams the Cards have taken 12, half of them from New York. The Philadelphia Phils are in fifth place in the standings with seven victories and five defeats.

For those who insist on comparing the strength of the two leagues, the record of the Red Sox might help. The Red Sox won half of their ten games against National league clubs and lost every one.
